

Construction of Improvised Shelters

(For use when tents are not available)

A shelter with two ground sheets constructed on the same principle as the tent above for two cadets.

For one Cadet use a groundsheet shelter against a fallen tree trunk. The ground sheet must be on the side of the trunk away from the prevailing wind.

Another groundsheet type of shelter for one cadet. The rope must be strong and the open side of the groundsheet away from the prevailing wind.